

Personal Safety

Our online Personal Safety course is designed to explore the risks to personal safety at work and how to control them

Course Overview

Our Personal Safety eLearning Course is designed to ensure the safety of staff members both inside and outside of work. It explores the definition of personal safety, what workplace violence is and how it can be avoided, and what the main risks to personal safety at work are.

Learners will find out about their employers' responsibilities when it comes to looking after their personal safety and where and when they could be most at risk.

Key Learning Points

- Your employer's responsibilities for your personal safety
- When and where your personal safety is most at risk
- How to assess and minimise risks to your personal safety
- Legislation relating to self-defence in a potentially violent situation
- The importance of good communication skills
