

First Aid for Non First Aiders

Course Overview

Would you know what to do if someone suffers an injury or falls ill while at work? Do you know what provisions your employer has made regarding first aid?

Whether we are trained first aiders or not, we all play a role in ensuring our workplaces are safe for everyone. In this course, you will learn about first aid risk assessments, how to respond in an emergency, and which first aid measures are right for your workplace.

Key Learning Points

- Recognise the importance of first aid and why first aid risk assessments are needed.
- Identify what to include in a first aid risk assessment and how to conduct one.
- Understand “high-risk” and “low-risk” workplaces require different treatment.
- Recognise the role of first aiders, emergency first aiders, and mental health first aiders.
- State what should be included in a first aid kit.
- Recognise the first aid provisions available for remote/lone workers and employees who travel for work.
- Recognise when to call emergency services vs. relying on standard first aid
- Identify how to respond if you’re first on the scene of a minor injury
- Recognise what to do in the aftermath of a workplace injury
