Preventing a Data Breach

Raise awareness of the importance of Data Protection and prevent a data breach in your organisation

Course Overview

This online training course enables learners to understand the consequences of data breaches and the best practice to follow when handling personal data. The course explores the causes of data breaches and enables learners to understand how information should be processed and stored.

This immersive learning course is presented in a highly gamified format. It is designed to help organisations avoid penalties from data breaches and maintaining a strong reputation and customer trust. Organisations are required to meet legal and regulatory requirements such as Data Protection, Personal Information Protection and Data Privacy Acts. The most robust guidance for safeguarding personal data is the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), which forms the basis of this course.
